Sanon Wangsrangboon

A social entrepreneur, activist, and currently the youngest Deputy Governor of Bangkok to date, Sanon Wangsrangboon is responsible for the Department of Education, the Department of Social Development, the Department of Culture, Sports, and Tourism, as well as the Open Government Policy. After completing a Bachelor of Engineering and serving in regional management roles in a global company, he pursued a path toward becoming a social entrepreneur. Sanon co-founded inclusive businesses and social enterprises aimed at fostering citizen engagement in urban development. This endeavor continued for years before he joined the executive team of the Governor of Bangkok. With unwavering determination across different positions, he currently serves Bangkok city and its residents with a citizen-centric approach, along with a core belief in the power of ordinary people to make the city better.
